

Julie Fream

Chair, Board of Directors

Beaumont

Julie Fream is the chair of the Board of Directors at Beaumont Health, Michigan's largest health care system, based on inpatient admissions and net patient revenue. She is a founding member of the Beaumont Health Board.

Since 2013, Fream has also been the president and CEO of the Original Equipment Suppliers Association. The association represents the voice of automotive suppliers and champions their business interests. Fream has spent four decades of her career in automotive, including roles for both manufacturers and suppliers in manufacturing, engineering, program management, sales, marketing, and communications.

In addition, she is a member of several vehicle manufacturer supplier councils, representing the interests of the automotive supplier community.

In 2016, Crain's Detroit Business recognized Fream as one of "Michigan's Most Influential Women." In 2015 and 2020, she was listed as one of the "100 Leading Women in the Automotive Industry" by the Automotive News. She also serves on the board of First Robotics and the Automotive Hall of Fame.

Fream has a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Michigan Technological University and an MBA from the Harvard Business School.

She and her husband, Robert Lawrence, live in Beverly Hills. They have two adult children.

Beaumont Health is Michigan's largest health care system and is most preferred for health care in Southeast Michigan, according to NRC Health survey data. The not-for-profit organization's more than 33,000 employees share a mission to provide compassionate, extraordinary care, every day. The system includes eight hospitals with 3,375 beds, 155 outpatient sites, nearly 5,000 affiliated physicians, 1,800 advanced practice providers, 9,000 nurses and 2,000 volunteers. Beaumont's total annual net patient revenue is $4.6 billion. In 2019, the health system had 179,600 inpatient discharges, 17,600 births and 577,000 emergency visits.
