

David Wood Jr., M.D.

Executive Vice President, Chief Medical Officer

Beaumont

David Wood Jr., M.D. is executive vice president and chief medical officer at Beaumont Health, Michigan's largest health care system, based on inpatient admissions and net patient revenue.

Dr. Wood's responsibilities include oversight of the educational, research and quality programs for Beaumont. He also oversees Beaumont Physician Partners, which is responsible for development and implementation of physician/hospital strategies to provide optimal care for Beaumont's patients.

Dr. Wood came to Beaumont from the University of Michigan Health System. A nationally and internationally recognized cancer surgeon, he was chief of U-M's Division of Urologic Oncology from 2002-2011. Before joining U-M Health System, Dr. Wood held a series of leadership positions with the Detroit Medical Center, Wayne State University and the Karmanos Cancer Institute, including chief medical officer of the Karmanos Cancer Hospital.

An active researcher, he has participated in 25 grant-funded studies and served as principal investigator or co-investigator of three clinical trials at the University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center. He has presented at numerous conferences around the world, authored more than 175 articles in peer-reviewed journals and more than 20 book chapters and has co-authored two books.

Dr. Wood received his medical degree from the University of Michigan. He served his residency at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation and a three-year fellowship in urologic oncology at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York.

Beaumont Health is a not-for-profit organization formed in 2014 by Beaumont Health System, Botsford Hospital and Oakwood Healthcare to provide patients and families with compassionate, extraordinary care, no matter where they live in Southeast Michigan.
